

Newsquiz - Week of March 12

Get a Clue -- Use each of the following clues to figure out who or what is being described.
Write your answer in the space provided.

1. He is the current president of Mexico whom President Bush visited this week.
2. This Nebraska senator held a press conference to announce that he will make a decision on his political future later this year.
3. A Starbucks store in this imperial palace in Beijing has some Chinese upset.
4. Members can only be born into this small Middle Eastern religious group, which mixes elements of Christianity, Islam and Judaism.
5. This city will host the 2012 Olympics.
6. Gen. David Petraeus is the commander of multinational forces stationed in this country.
7. King Juan Carlos inaugurated a glass monument to victims of train bombings in this Spanish capital.
8. Bogota is the capital of this South American country that President Bush visited this week.
9. This current president of France says he will not seek another term.
10. The European Union wants speed limits imposed on this German highway system.