

A topographic map of California and its neighboring states, Nevada and Arizona. The map uses a color gradient from green to brown to represent elevation, with blue indicating water bodies. State boundaries are marked with thin black lines. The Pacific Ocean is visible to the west and south of California. A white callout box with a black border points to Los Angeles County, which is highlighted in a light yellow color. The text 'CALIFORNIA' is written in large white letters on the left side of the map.
