

A topographic map of the southwestern United States and northern Mexico. The map uses a color gradient from green (low elevation) to brown and tan (high elevation) to show terrain. State boundaries are marked with thin black lines. The names 'NEVADA', 'UTAH', and 'ARIZONA' are printed in large, white, bold, sans-serif capital letters over their respective states. The Gulf of California is visible between the Baja California Peninsula and the mainland, and the Gulf of Mexico is partially visible at the bottom left.
